1. Brand & Tone

Who Meave is

Meave Darroux is a UK-based parenting consultant and certified Triple P (Positive Parenting Program) practitioner with 15+ years of frontline experience. After a decade leading a regional parenting charity, she has gone independent and serves three audiences:

1. Parents — 1-to-1 coaching for tantrums, transitions, sleep, screens and siblings.
2. Schools & events — Ofsted-aligned talks, workshops, keynotes, staff CPD.
3. Organisations — consultancy and commissioned delivery for nurseries, charities, local authorities, NHS trusts, prisons and employers.

Voice & tone

- Warm, not soft. The reader feels listened to, never lectured.
- Practical over theoretical. Strategies you can use on the school run, not in a clinic.
- Evidence over opinion. Triple P framing earns the right to be confident.
- Plainspoken. Short sentences. No jargon. No guru energy.
- UK English. "organisation", "behaviour", "programme".

Visual feel

- Editorial — like a thoughtful Sunday-magazine feature, not a SaaS landing page.
- Warm cream surfaces (#FAF6F0) with deep forest green primary and terracotta accent.
- Generous whitespace, large display serif (Fraunces) for headlines, clean sans (Inter) for body.
- Homepage = cinematic and full-bleed; inner pages = grounded and informational.

2. Design System

2.1 Colour palette

All site colours are declared as CSS custom properties on `:root`. Use the variable name in any rebuild, not the hex inline.

Primary dark — `--primary-dark`
#1F3329
Hero overlay, footer, dark hover state, video placeholder.

#C67B5C
Accent buttons, eyebrow text, featured-quote band, focus rings, stat border.

Accent dark — `--accent-dark`
#A9674B
Accent button hover state.

Olive — supporting

White — surface

`#8A9A5B`
Third pillar-card top stripe; third contact-route stripe.

`#FFFFFF`
Cards, testimonials, form fields, accent button text.

> Note: Light text on dark sections uses `#FAF6F0` (cream) at varying opacities (0.6–0.9) rather than pure white — this preserves the warmth.

3.7 Animation & motion

> Scope: All scroll/word-by-word animations are scoped to the homepage only (presence of `.hero-cinematic`) and are skipped entirely when `prefers-reduced-motion: reduce` is set. Mobile-nav and FAQ animations run on every page.

1. WORD-BY-WORD HERO REVEAL

- JS splits `.hero-cinematic__h1` textContent into `` per word.
- Each word gets `animation-delay: index * 85ms`.
- Animation: `@keyframes wordFadeUp` — opacity 0→1, translateY 20px→0, 0.55s cubic-bezier(0.22, 1, 0.36, 1) forwards.
- aria-label on h1 retains the full plain-text string for screen readers.

2. SCROLL REVEAL (HOMEPAGE ONLY)

- JS adds `.reveal` class to: `.card`, `.audience-card`, `.stat`, `.pillar-card`, `.testimonial`, `.step`.
- Section headings (`.section__head h2`) get `.reveal.reveal--left`.
- IntersectionObserver: threshold 0.15, rootMargin `0px 0px -60px 0px`.
- On intersect: index in parent calculated, `transitionDelay = idx * 100ms`, `.revealed` class added → opacity 1, translate(0,0).
- Transition: 0.55s ease.

3. STAT COUNT-UP

- Each stat number has `data-count` + optional `data-suffix`.
- Second IntersectionObserver (threshold 0.4) triggers RAF loop.
- Duration 1400ms, ease-out quad: `1 - (1 - p)^2`.
- Numbers ≥ 1000 formatted with `toLocaleString('en-GB')`; suffix appended.

4. STICKY CTA FADE (MOBILE, EVERY PAGE)

- Hidden on desktop (≥ 1024px).
- IntersectionObserver watches `.hero` with rootMargin `-40px 0px 0px 0px`.
- When hero leaves viewport → `.visible` class added → opacity 1, translateY 0.
- Note: the cinematic homepage uses `.hero-cinematic`, not `.hero`, so on home this falls back to "always visible" (acceptable, but worth noting if reskinning).

5. VIDEO PLAY-BUTTON PULSE

- About page video placeholder — 72px terracotta circle.
- `@keyframes playPulse` 2s ease-in-out infinite: scale 1→1.08 + outward shadow ring fade.

6. HOVER MICRO-INTERACTIONS

- Buttons: translateY -1px on hover.
- Cards: translateY -3px + shadow-md.
- Text-link arrow: translateX 3px.
- FAQ icon: rotate 45deg.
- Audience-card arrow: translateX 4px.

4. Page-by-Page Breakdown

4.1 Home — `index.html`

> Purpose: Establish credibility instantly, route the visitor to the right pillar (parent / school / organisation), and make booking a discovery call frictionless. Audience: All three at once — the page must serve any of them within the first scroll. Visual register: Cinematic, full-bleed hero. Distinct from inner pages.

About Meave

H2

Fifteen years on the frontline of family support — now independent.

Para 1

After more than a decade leading parenting and early-years work inside a UK children's charity, I've stepped out to continue that mission as an independent consultant. The approach is the same one that's changed thousands of family routines: warm, evidence-based, and relentlessly practical.

Para 2

Trained in Triple P (Positive Parenting Program) — one of the most widely researched parenting frameworks in the world — I bring the same methodology into every session, whether it's with a parent at the kitchen table, a school hall of 200, or a commissioning team at a local authority.

How it works

H2

A straightforward way to start

Lede

No mystery, no hard sell. Three simple steps to figure out whether we're a good fit.

Step 1

Get in touch — Send a short message about what's going on. Parents, schools and organisations all use the same enquiry form — I'll route it from there.

Step 2

Free 20-minute call — We talk through what you're hoping to change, what you've already tried, and whether my approach is the right fit. No obligation.

Step 3

A plan that fits — I'll send a written proposal — sessions, workshop, or programme — tailored to your situation, timeline and budget.

H1

15 years. Thousands of families. One practitioner.

5 How I work — principles

--BG-ALT, 3-UP CARD-GRID

Eyebrow

How I work

H2

Evidence-based, non-judgemental, practical.

Lede

Three principles shape everything I do — with parents in my coaching room, with staff in a school hall, and with boards in an organisation.

Card 1

Evidence, not opinion — I use Triple P and other peer-reviewed frameworks — because what works at scale also works around your kitchen table. No fads, no guru energy.

Card 2

Warmth without judgement — Parenting is already hard enough. My job isn't to critique how you're doing it — it's to add tools to what's already working and quietly take pressure off what isn't.

Card 3

Measurable outcomes — Every engagement — whether a family or an employer — starts with a clear definition of what "better" looks like and how we'll know when we're there.

2 "Is this you?" pain points

--BG-ALT, 2-COL CHECK-LIST

Eyebrow

Is this you?

H2

You're a good parent. You're also exhausted.

Lede

Most of the families I work with are doing everything "right" — and still feel like the wheels are coming off. Sound familiar?

Six tick items

1. Bedtimes or mornings have become a daily battle you dread.
2. You're shouting more than you want to — and feeling terrible about it afterwards.
3. Siblings are fighting constantly and no strategy seems to hold for more than a week.
4. You and your partner are on different pages about boundaries and it's causing friction.
5. Your child is anxious, withdrawn, or struggling at school — and you don't know what would actually help.
6. You've read the books and followed the Instagram accounts and it hasn't translated into real change.

3 What coaching looks like

--BG, ABOUT-SPLIT

Eyebrow

What coaching actually looks like

H2

A practical, private plan built around your family.

Body

Together we'll look at what's happening now — not a generic version of it — and build a short, workable plan you can actually use this week. I draw on the Triple P (Positive Parenting Program) framework, adapted to your child's age, temperament and the realities of your household.

		interested in parental support and Triple P interventions."
Dee Burn	Operations Manager, HMP Holloway	"I was extremely impressed with the way Ms Darroux was not only familiar with the content but was immediately able to put the women at ease — mostly by speaking to them and not at them. The seminars were so enjoyable the women asked if there were any follow-on courses."	May 2019	For Orgs (testimonial 2)
Mr Ijaz Khan	Centre Manager, Hayes Muslim Centre	"The first workshop we had with Brilliant Parents had over 30 attendees, all of whom gave positive feedback and requested the second and third workshops. Fathers as well as mothers are now coming forward."	Nov 2021	For Orgs (testimonial 3)

HOME PAGE (5 ITEMS)

1. What does a session actually cost?
   Fees depend on whether it's 1-to-1 coaching, a one-off workshop, or a multi-session programme — and on whether you're booking as a family, a school, or an organisation. [placeholder: fee range]. Every enquiry gets a clear written proposal before anything is booked.
2. What is Triple P and why do you use it?
   Triple P (the Positive Parenting Program) is one of the most extensively researched parenting approaches in the world, with more than 40 years of evidence behind it. It's used by the NHS, local authorities and schools across the UK. It gives parents practical tools rather than slogans, which is why I've stayed with it for so long.
3. Do you work online or only in person?
   Both. Parent coaching is available UK-wide over video call. School talks, workshops and organisational consultancy are usually in person — but I'll travel across the UK, and virtual delivery is available on request.
4. Is this therapy? Do I need a referral?
   No — this is coaching and consultancy, not therapy, and no referral is needed. If something comes up in our work that would be better supported by a clinical service (for example CAMHS or a GP), I'll say so clearly and help you find the right route.
5. How do you handle safeguarding?
   I work to a full safeguarding policy shared with every client at the start of our work, hold an up-to-date enhanced DBS, and carry professional insurance. Full documentation is available for schools and organisations on request.

FOR PARENTS PAGE (6 ITEMS)

1. Is this therapy?
   No. Coaching is practical, forward-looking, and focused on parenting strategy — not processing trauma or diagnosing mental health conditions. If you or your child need clinical support, I'll tell you honestly and can help you find the right route.
2. What ages do you work with?
   I'm trained in Triple P for families with children from birth to 16. Most of my work is with parents of children aged 2–12, but I regularly support families navigating early teens too.
3. Do both parents need to attend?
   It helps, but it's not required. I work with single parents, separated co-parents, and one partner on behalf of a household. We'll set up whatever genuinely works for your setup.
4. Is my child neurodivergent — can you help?
   Yes. A significant portion of the families I work with include autistic and ADHD children. My approach adjusts accordingly — same evidence base, different tools.
5. How soon will we see change?
   Most families notice concrete shifts within 2–3 weeks of applying the first set of strategies. Lasting change — the sort that holds under pressure — usually takes the full six-week arc.
6. What if we can't afford the full programme?
   Tell me. I hold a small number of reduced-fee places each month for families who need them, and I can point you to low-cost Triple P group programmes run through the NHS and local authorities.
